

GOTCHA

THE Sun

blue mountains
BMUC inc
unions council

MURDOCH EXPOSED!

Sunday, 1 April 2012, 2.30 - 4.30
Blackburns Family Hotel
15 Parke St. Katoomba
ENTRY FREE

David McKnight

David McKnight is an Associate Professor at the University of New South Wales in Sydney, Australia. He has just published Rupert Murdoch: An Investigation of Political Power.

He was formerly a journalist on the Sydney Morning Herald, ABC TV's Four Corners and the weekly newspaper Tribune.

His other books include Beyond Right and Left: New Politics and the Culture War (2006) Australia's Spies and Their Secrets (1994) and a history of Soviet spying, Espionage and the Roots of the Cold War (2002). With Robert Manne he edited a book on the global financial crisis, Goodbye To All That? His current research is on the future of newspapers and on climate change and politics.

Alex Mitchell

Alex Mitchell former state political editor of The Sun-Herald, has just published his first book Come The Revolution: A Memoir - chronicling his 50-year career in the media and politics.

After a cadetship in Townsville, he worked for Rupert Murdoch's News Limited in Mount Isa, Sydney and the Canberra Press Gallery during the 1960s, before travelling to Fleet Street.

He joined the London Sunday Times in its hey-day when (Sir) Harold Evans was editor and landed a job with the legendary Insight team for three of its landmark investigations - exposing the Soviet double agent Kim Philby and the corporate swindlers, publisher Robert Maxwell and offshore funds operator Bernie Cornfeld.

Contact Alex regarding his book 0438 176 829 - alexmitchell@mitchellonline.com.au

Further information: Phone (02) 4787 1401 • email bmuc@gmail.com

(Presented under the auspices of Mountains Community Resource Network)

Blue Mountains Unions Council • <http://bmuc.blogspot.com/> • <http://bmucinc.com/>

GOTCHA

THE Sun

blue mountains
BMUC inc
unions council

MURDOCH EXPOSED!

Sunday, 1 April 2012, 2.30 - 4.30
Blackburns Family Hotel
15 Parke St. Katoomba
ENTRY FREE

David McKnight

David McKnight is an Associate Professor at the University of New South Wales in Sydney, Australia. He has just published Rupert Murdoch: An Investigation of Political Power.

He was formerly a journalist on the Sydney Morning Herald, ABC TV's Four Corners and the weekly newspaper Tribune.

His other books include Beyond Right and Left: New Politics and the Culture War (2006) Australia's Spies and Their Secrets (1994) and a history of Soviet spying, Espionage and the Roots of the Cold War (2002). With Robert Manne he edited a book on the global financial crisis, Goodbye To All That? His current research is on the future of newspapers and on climate change and politics.

Alex Mitchell

Alex Mitchell former state political editor of The Sun-Herald, has just published his first book Come The Revolution: A Memoir - chronicling his 50-year career in the media and politics.

After a cadetship in Townsville, he worked for Rupert Murdoch's News Limited in Mount Isa, Sydney and the Canberra Press Gallery during the 1960s, before travelling to Fleet Street.

He joined the London Sunday Times in its hey-day when (Sir) Harold Evans was editor and landed a job with the legendary Insight team for three of its landmark investigations - exposing the Soviet double agent Kim Philby and the corporate swindlers, publisher Robert Maxwell and offshore funds operator Bernie Cornfeld.

Contact Alex regarding his book 0438 176 829 - alexmitchell@mitchellonline.com.au

Further information: Phone (02) 4787 1401 • email bmuc@gmail.com

(Presented under the auspices of Mountains Community Resource Network)

Blue Mountains Unions Council • <http://bmuc.blogspot.com/> • <http://bmucinc.com/>

BOOK LAUNCH

BOOK LAUNCH